Reasons for Allowance

1. An after-final amendment was received from the applicant on December 12, 2005.
2. Claims 8-29 and 31 have been canceled.
3. Claims 1-7 and 30 are allowed.
4. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance. The body board as claimed is not shown or suggested in the prior art because of the use of a body board that is comprised of a foam core portion with top and bottom surfaces, first and second binding layers that are laminated on the outside of said top and bottom surfaces, first and second graphics layers that are laminated on the outside of said first and second binding layers, and first and second clear protection layers that are laminated on the outside of said first and second graphics layers.
5. The prior art as disclosed by Moran (US 5,647,784) shows the use of a body board that is comprised of a foam core portion with top and bottom surfaces, first and second binding layers that are laminated on the outside of said top and bottom surfaces, and upper and lower skins that are laminated to said first and second binding layers. Schneider et al. (US 5,211,593) discloses a body board that is comprised of a foam core portion with top and bottom surfaces, first and second binding layers that are laminated to said top and bottom surfaces, and first and second clear layers having imprinted graphics that are laminated to said first and second binding layers. Yeh (US 6,106,345) discloses a body board that includes a colored protection layer that is laminated to top and bottom surfaces of a foam board. Therefore, none of the prior art cited shows the use of a body board that is comprised of a foam core portion with top and bottom surfaces, first and second binding layers that are laminated on the outside of said top and bottom surfaces, first and second graphics layers that are laminated on the outside of said first and second binding layers, and first and second clear protection layers that are laminated on the outside of said first and second graphics layers.

Conclusion

6. Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
7. Any inquiry concerning this communication from the examiner should be directed to Exr. Lars Olson whose telephone number is (571) 272-6685.
